

JAPAN AIRLINES AND BRITISH AIRWAYS ADD TO LIST OF CODESHARE CITIES

TOKYO October 25, 2012: Japan Airlines (JAL) and British Airways have agreed to add Rome, Milan, Bologna, Amsterdam and Warsaw to their list of codeshare cities from October 28, 2012, when JAL will place its flight indicator on the BA-operated flights between London and these destinations.

Both members of the oneworld alliance® recently began their joint business between Europe and Japan on October 1, with an existing codeshare arrangement including 27 destinations in Europe served by BA as well as JAL's service on 17 routes originating from Tokyo's Narita and Haneda airport to 14 international and domestic Japan destinations.

Bookings and ticket purchase for the newly added segments will be available from today, October 25, 2012, and will bring the total number of codeshare destinations for JAL with BA within Europe to 32 cities.

The airlines will continue to strengthen their partnership to bring increasing convenience and more service benefits to customers.

END