

Japan Airlines Announces Major International Network Expansion Plan at Tokyo's Metropolitan Airports in 2020

Tokyo, November 19, 2019 – In response to the allocation of new daytime slots at Tokyo-Haneda International Airport in 2020, Japan Airlines today announced the expansion of its global network between Japan and the U.S., Finland, Russia, Australia, India and China. As a result, the carrier will feature 34 international routes at Tokyo-Haneda airport, starting March 29, 2020.

For operations at Tokyo-Narita International Airport, the carrier recently announced new services in 2020 to Bengaluru, Vladivostok, and an additional flight to San Francisco. JAL's new subsidiary carrier, ZIPAIR Tokyo, will launch its inaugural services between Tokyo-Narita and Bangkok, Thailand in May 2020 and Seoul Incheon, Korea in July 2020. And in 2021, JAL will establish a new evening flight from Tokyo-Narita to Chicago O'Hare International Airport to strengthen its international network with Pacific Joint Business partner, American Airlines.

"The expansion of these new services at Tokyo's metropolitan airports will provide convenient options to our business and leisure customers in Japan and throughout the world. With the upcoming 2020 Tokyo Olympics and Paralympics, we look forward to serving our valued customers through Tokyo's Haneda and Narita airports, while providing a seamless travel experience," said Tetsuya Onuki, Managing Executive Officer – International Route Marketing.

The following plans and schedules are based on the approvals from the relevant authorities.
