

(Press Memo – For Immediate Release)
July 13, 2022

Japan Airlines Updates International Network Plans

Due to the impact of the new coronavirus infection, the number of flights between Japan and mainland China has been restricted, but we have decided to operate the Narita=Tianjin route from July 2022 for the time being, following the recent easing of restrictions.

While flights from Japan to Beijing are restricted, we aim to improve customer convenience by resuming flights to Tianjin, a city near Beijing.

We will continue to implement our route plan in a flexible manner, including further increase of flights and development of other mainland China routes, while keeping an eye on immigration restrictions, quarantine systems, and demand.

Key Highlights : ※= denotes round trip.

- ✓ Narita=Tianjin service will begin on July 16.
- ✓ For the time being, one round-trip flight per week is planned.

Network Plan From July 16 for the time being

Flight	Routes	Type of Aircraft	Operation day of the week	Flight schedule (Dep./Arr. at Local time)
JL823	NRT-TSN	767-300ER	Saturday	Dep.9:55 Arr.12:55
JL824	TSN-NRT	767-300ER	Saturday	Dep.14:55 Arr.19:20

END