Applications Open for JAL Career Discovery Program (Business Planning Track)

— 3-Day In-Person Career Discovery Program Hosted in San Francisco (USA) and London (UK) —

Japan Airlines (JAL) will accept applications for its " Career Discovery Program" in Business Planning Track starting Wednesday, October 21, 2026.

In recent years, while globalization continues to accelerate, the number of Japanese students studying abroad remains at a relatively low level. Furthermore, due to the earlier start and prolonged timeline of job search activities in Japan, students residing abroad face increasing difficulties in participating in Japanese companies' early career programs, resulting in missed opportunities to secure employment with their preferred companies.

In response to these trends, JAL launched this program last fiscal year as a first-of-its-kind initiative by a Japanese airline. Students studying or living abroad highly praised the program as an invaluable way to experience JAL's frontlines and career opportunities firsthand.

This fiscal year, to provide participants with deeper insights through practical learning, a three-day in-person Career Discovery Program will be hosted across two cities: San Francisco (USA) and London (UK).

■ Program Features & Objectives

The program features a practical curriculum that includes department overviews at JAL's overseas branch offices, facility tours including airports, direct interaction with employees, and group discussions among participating students. Participants will gain firsthand exposure and practical insights into day-to-day operations and initiatives while leveraging their unique perspectives as students residing or studying abroad to explore global business and deepen their understanding of the value and core appeal of the JAL Group and Business Planning Tracks.
