

JAL Group Announces FY2025 Winter Schedule on International and Domestic Network

1. International flights will increase frequency to operate the Narita–Melbourne route daily. The Narita–Shanghai (Pudong) route will be resumed during the winter season.
2. The Airbus A350-1000 aircraft will be introduced on the Haneda–Paris route daily starting November 9. With this, the Airbus A350-1000 will operate daily on five routes from Haneda.
3. A special flight to Honolulu will be scheduled during the year-end and New Year holidays. For certain periods, flights on the Haneda-Honolulu route will be operated with larger Boeing 777 aircraft, with First Class service also offered.
4. As the first regular international flight for Japan Transocean Air (JTA), the Naha-Taipei (Taoyuan) route will be newly established in February 2026.
5. For domestic flights, additional flights will be operated on the Tokyo (Haneda)–Sapporo (New Chitose) route and Osaka (Itami)–Sapporo (New Chitose) routes for a limited period.

Tokyo, JAPAN – The JAL Group today announced the Winter schedule for international and domestic routes for fiscal year 2025.

International Flights

- To increase capacity in response to strong inbound demand during the winter season, the Narita–Melbourne route will increase from three flights per week to daily service(*1), and the Narita–Shanghai (Pudong) route will be resumed(*2) between October 26 and March 28.
- The latest Airbus A350-1000 aircraft, equipped with specially designed, advanced seats and the newest pressure and humidity control systems to enhance passenger comfort, will operate daily on the Haneda–Paris route (JL45/JL46) starting November 9. With this change, 12 daily flights(*3) will be operated across five routes from Haneda.
- In response to the recovery of Japanese overseas travel demand, flights will increase and larger aircraft will be deployed to accommodate leisure demand around the JAL Honolulu Marathon scheduled for December 14, 2025, and the year-end and New Year holidays. First Class service will be offered on these flights. The specific dates are as follows:

Elevating the journey: Shohei Ohtani experiences first-class luxury
